Sponsored by the Quality Construction Alliance

A united voice for responsible contracting initiatives on federal policy issues

SMACNA - MCAA - TAUC - ICE - FCA

Monday, May 3 – Wednesday, May 5, 2010.

Renaissance Hotel, 999 9th St. N.W., Washington, D.C

Some of the greatest challenges and opportunities of our times will be facing SMACNA members this year. Congressional action could have a greater impact on your business than at any other time in history. This is no time to take a laissez-faire attitude. It is critical to be part of the process. The Quality Construction Alliance (QCA) will address these issues on the Legislative and Regulatory levels at the National Issues Conference, May 3-5 in Washington, D.C.

The second session of the 111th Congress will continue to pit responsible contractors, like yourselves, against contractors who like the status quo. At the top of the conference issues' list will be willful misclassification of employees as independent contractors and procurement reforms that focus on shoring up legal compliance of all contractors who do business with the federal government.

Overwhelmingly the Congress and the Administration will target creation of jobs focused on energy efficiency, and green and sustainable buildings. SMACNA is already at the forefront of the drive to get energy tax credits as a dominant feature in the jobs bills planned in the coming months. How can you shape the direction and take advantage of the change? Find out in Washington, DC, May 3 – 5, 2010.

Sign up by completing the registration form and sending it along with your payment by check or credit card to SMACNA's national office. For more information, contact the SMACNA Capitol Hill office at (202) 547-8202.
